Goliath
Casket

Fourth Edition

Funerals are for the living – providing an opportunity to gather family and friends to celebrate a life. Selecting a casket can be a difficult choice for one to make. It is important to limit your emotions as much as possible and make an informed choice. Your funeral-service professional will gladly assist you in planning a funeral and selecting funeral products that help you memorialize and celebrate your loved one. All of the caskets represented in this catalog are manufactured by companies with strong reputations for producing caskets with high-quality materials and skilled workmanship. All caskets are manufactured in the United States. One can be assured that every casket represented in this book is a quality-manufactured product.

The caskets shown in this catalog are arranged into two basic groups: wood and metal. Generally speaking, caskets are shown within a category from higher priced to lower priced. Pricing of caskets varies as a result of the construction material and the amount of labor required to manufacture the casket. The chart below serves as a guide to understanding the variety of materials used in the construction of caskets and the relative value of one to another.

Paragon has a wide variety of caskets to select from
  	Bronze		Cherry
	Copper		Maple
	Stainless Steel		Oak
	18 Gauge Round - Brushed		Pecan
	18 Gauge Round		Poplar
	18 Gauge Brushed		Ash
	18 Gauge Velvet		Pine
	18 Gauge Crepe		Engineered - Paper Veneer
	20 Gauge Crepe		Paragon
	20 Gauge Non-Gasketed

Most caskets can be customized or personalized to some degree. Options include adding names, dates, hobbies, military service, religious and civic affiliations. See pages 60 - 67 for additional details regarding personalization options.

If you choose cremation rather than a traditional burial service, please note that most of the hardwood caskets shown are designed for use as either a burial or cremation casket. These caskets can be used to show the body during visitation and then used to transport the body to the crematory after the memorial service. A small selection of the most popular urns and keepsakes is also available.

Paragon

Casket, Inc.

Paragon Casket was founded in 2007 as a small privately-owned casket distributor located in Richmond, Indiana. In July 2013, Paragon purchased Romark Casket. Romark had been a manufacturer of high quality custom caskets since 1984, and this acquisition allowed us to begin manufacturing the metal caskets we offer for sale. During 2020 we purchased Goliath Casket increasing our already strong position within the oversize market.

We are proud to represent Matthews, Chicago Cremation, and Starmark. We take pride in the quality of products we represent. We always give our best efforts towards offering the highest possible levels of customer service. This pride in quality of product and quality of service, combined with the strength of the manufacturers we represent, has allowed Paragon to become extremely competitive and enjoy rapid growth. All of the caskets shown are in stock and are available for immediate shipment.

Meaningful Options

Special order cap panels allow you to customize the casket in a way that best memorializes your loved one. Whether you choose the promise of hope symbolized by praying hands or a statement of love expressed by the rose, a lasting image of the personal memorial will remain.

Cap panels can be customized to feature significant personal information including, but not limited to, a name, a nickname, or dates of birth and death.

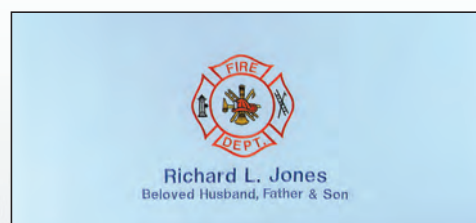

Panels representing favorite hobbies, religious and civic affiliations, military service and other interests are available. Your choices are almost unlimited, and most panels can be shipped promptly to cause no delay in arrangements. Please contact your sales representative for details.
